

Director, Health Care Policy & Research

Samantha Burch

As Director, Health Care Policy & Research, Samantha Burch is responsible for researching, analyzing and developing written comments and proposals about existing and emerging health policy issues, particularly quality measurement, patient safety and health information technology. Additionally, she represents the FAH at various related public forums and coalition meetings and supports the work of FAH member committees. Prior to joining the FAH, Ms. Burch served as a health care aide and press secretary for Rep. Al Green (D-TX), and has worked with the American Cancer Society, AcademyHealth, and as a policy fellow with the Ohio Department of Health.

Ms. Burch received a Bachelor of Arts degree in international relations from The Ohio State University and is completing her studies for a Master of Arts degree in government from the Johns Hopkins University in Washington, DC.

Posted 09/04/08